

Last night (10/13/04) I saw the VP of Sinclair Broadcasting on MSNBC or CNN. His less than sincere attempts to explain their decision to air the anti-Kerry program as "news" was ingenuous at best. Showing this film is not a free speech issue. It is a corporate domination of the airwaves issue. Their blatant political bias only serves to remind citizens that once there was a press that was accountable to the public. Sinclair's "news" story is a superb example of journalistic degradation and media monopoly. I saw your VP on MSNBC or CNN on 10/13. His less than sincere attempts to explain this program as news was ingenuous at best. Showing this film is not a free speech issue. It is a corporate domination of the airwaves issue. Your blatant political bias only serves to remind citizens that once there was a press that was accountable to the public. Your "news" story is a superb example of journalistic degradation. I saw your VP on MSNBC or CNN on 10/13. His less than sincere attempts to explain this program as news was ingenuous at best. Showing this film is not a free speech issue. It is a corporate domination of the airwaves issue. Your blatant political bias only serves to remind citizens that once there was a press that was accountable to the public. Your "news" story is a superb example of journalistic degradation. I sincerely hope that the FCC will act immediately to enforce the laws on electioneering by media outlets.